

Fort Worth Daily Gazette.

THE GAZETTE CO.

FORT WORTH, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1893.

READ THE NEWS OF THE GAZETTE'S CIRCULATION
GROWTH, FOURTH PAGE.

VOL. XVII NO. 308

ROVER THINKS
ONLY TEN DAYSWILL BE NECESSARY TO PASS THE REPEAL BILL.

OPPOSED TO A COMPROMISE.

HOWEVER, HE THINKS THE NEW BABY IS THE BEST IN THE WORLD.WHAT CREATES A MILD SENSATION IN THE SENATE—HE WANTS TARIFF AND FINANCIAL LEGISLATION POSTPONED TILL ALL STATES ARE REPRESENTED IN THE SENATE.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon that he had called over the situation in the Senate in the present fast night, and that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the former bill within the next ten days or so weeks, and that he was still very much opposed to the entanglements which attempts at a compromise would cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette today that he had called over the situation in the Senate in the present fast night, and that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to

some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to

some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would

cause of this stage of the work.

Mr. Edwards says that the president then

turned to him the question "no money to some of the states," Mr. Farnum had

indulged in his references to Secretary Hovey south.

The house then adjourned.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

AN OLD MAN IN PENNSYLVANIA CON-

SESSES THAT HE OUTRAGED A CHILD
AND THEN MURDERED HER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Delegates said to The Gazette this afternoon

that he had called over the situation in

the Senate in the present fast night, and

that Mr. Cleveland had expressed his confidence in the general's plan, repeat of the

former bill within the next ten days or

so weeks, and that he was still very

much opposed to the entanglements which

attempts at a compromise would